Approximately $5000 damage was done at Villa Marie Convent, two miles south of New Bedford, at 8 o'clock this morning when fire destroyed a three car garage, gutted a two story brick guest house, and partly destroyed the tea house adjoining. Firemen from New Castle and Youngstown answered the call for help. A large frame house just north of the three buildings burned was saved. The loss is covered by insurance.

A spark from a chimney settling on the shingle roof of the Tea House is thought to have started the blaze. A strong wind blowing to the south carried the sparks to the Guest House and on to the garage. Had the wind been to the north the damage would have been much worse than it was as a large frame house is located north of the Tea House but a few feet.

Volunteer Fire Fighters.
As the flames were noticed rolling from the roof of the Tea House the Nuns rushed out with buckets. Forming a volunteer brigade of postulates, novitiates and Nuns the women battled the flames as valiantly as men did. Mr. Franche, chaplain of the convent, and his assistant, Fr. Weigand, directed the work, and neighbors from nearby farms came over to help. In the meantime calls for help were telephoned to New Castle and Youngstown.

While some of the Nuns were battling the flames, others braved

PA NEW OBSERVES

A little lad who was given a birthday party last night had insisted that it be a stag affair and that men were to be preferred to boys as guests. His wishes were carried out to "T" and he had one grand time.

"Fighting the Insects," by L. O. Howard, would seem to be a book interesting about this season. It can be secured at the free public library.

When the trees are "in leaf" and the summer a bit more developed that road from Highland Heights should have no rival in the county for prettiness.

What was the matter with the traffic light at the corner of East Washington street and Croton avenue last night? Pa Newc passed there at 9 o'clock and later at 11 o'clock; at neither time was the light in operation. Because of the traffic to Harlanburg, East Brook and Ellwood City this is one of the busiest intersections in the city.

This good weather is inciting automobile owners to get out their cans of polish and brighten up the family cars. Pa Newc saw a couple of cars getting washed, polished and whisk broomed yesterday.

Beer Control Bill Is Near Enactment

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 22—Prospects for enactment of beer legislation were considered brighter today after William S. Vare, veteran Republican leader, joined forces with Gen. Edward Martin, State Republican chairman, in an agreement to "go along" with the demand of Gov. Gifford Pinchot that authority for licensing beer dealers be vested in county treasurers.

The Philadelphia legislative delegation thus abandoned its demands that the licensing power be placed in the hands of county judges and the step was believed in political circles here to presage passage of the compromise beer control measure offered by state Senator John J. McClure of Delaware.

Vare held a brief curbside conference late yesterday with James M. Hazlett, chairman of the city committee, and gave the order that the Philadelphia delegation should support the McClure bill.

Rep. Clinton A. Sowers, of Philadelphia, co-sponsor of the beer bill vetoed this week by the governor declared he will continue to oppose the executive's demands. On his return to Harrisburg, Sowers said he plans to offer a new bill now in the hands of the liquor control committee of which he is chairman and will ask the house to go into a committee of the whole to study it for immediate passage.

Opening last Tuesday night at a rousing get-together over which General Chairman Fred L. Rentz presided, the campaign swung into high gear on Wednesday morning. All of that day, and all of Thursday and Friday were devoted to membership soliciting.

Headed by capable division chairmen, the 28 teams, captained by industrious go-getters, covered practically all of New Castle in their effort.

Open Bids For Bridge Repairs

Wide Difference In Bids Submitted On West Washington St. Bridge

TO LET CONTRACT NEXT WEDNESDAY

Keen competition for the contract of repairing the West Washington street bridge was disclosed this morning when bids were opened by County Controller R. C. McCaslin and the county commissioners. The low bid was only slightly over one half of the highest bid. The others, eleven in all, ranged between these two extremes.

The lowest bid was that of the Pittsburgh Des Moines Steel Company of Pittsburgh, $12,989. The highest bid was that of the Charles W. Tanner Company of Pittsburgh, $25,465. The second lowest bid was that of Youngstown Welding and Engineering Company of Youngstown, O., $13,984.

Along with each lump sum bid the bidders were required to state the cost of additional work not included in the lump sum should it be found necessary. Included in this was con-

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The Mellon-Mills-Reed directed opposition to the administration's currency expansion bill sought desperately today to prevent President Roosevelt from changing the gold content of the dollar in order to improve domestic economic conditions.

The little group of conservative Republicans, led by two former secretaries of the treasury, proposed that the gold section of the expansion bill be completely rewritten. They suggested that Mr. Roosevelt be empowered to change the gold content of the dollar only to carry out an international monetary agreement stabilizing foreign exchange.

NEW YORK, April 22.—"Inflation"—what will it mean?—is the topic of the hour.

Everywhere they are discussing it—in Wall street's financial district, in offices, business houses, barber shops, in public places and along the main streets of America.

It has supplanted in public interest such subjects as 3.2 per cent beer, the banking situation and our old friend technocracy.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—President Roosevelt and Ramsay MacDonald, the British prime minister, lost no time today in getting down to business in their joint effort to find some remedy for the monetary and economic ills that have been paralyzing world trade.

Cutting abruptly through the red tape that requires a round of stilted social calls by the head of a visiting state, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. MacDonald assembled their respective advisers in the big oval room of the White House this morning and got at it. An hour's private conference between the two preceded the calling in of the advisers.

Prepare To Conduct Further Trials For New U. S. S. Naval Airship

CRUISE AROUND NORTHERN OHIO

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., April 22.—Expressing keen satisfaction with the results of the ship's maiden flight, officers and inspectors of the Navy's new giant dirigible U. S. S. Macon, today prepared to conduct further air trials.

Carrying 105 passengers, including the crew and officers, the Macon cruised back and forth over northern Ohio for nearly 13 hours yesterday. When he brought the ship to a safe landing at the port, Commander Alger H. Dresel stated simply: "The ship handled well."

Plan More Tests

Rear Admiral George Day, chief of the Naval board of inspectors which will decide finally whether the Macon is to be added to the Naval fleet of the Nation, announced that the various tests on the day's program were conducted successfully.

"Turning trials were practically all completed," Admiral Day said, "and speed trials indicate that the ship probably should meet her contract speed."

We are all on a drunk for the time being, anyhow, and the darn thing might accidentally work permanently.

STATE RELIEF PLANS TROUBLE LEGISLATURE

Unemployment Relief Bills In Spotlight

Seek To Provide Sum Of $33,000,000 For Relief Of Jobless In State

Compromise Between Leaders And Pinchot Takes Care Of Relief Until May 31

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 22.—Unemployment relief, temporarily shunted into the background while the Republican organization advanced its general program to the point of final passage in case of a sudden decision to adjourn, today was set for a comeback.

Two Scott bills, appropriating $33,000,000 for relief purposes during the next biennium, have passed the Senate.

One bill, well advanced on the House calendar, takes $13,000,000 from the general fund which is expected to show a surplus through salary reductions, governmental economies and beer taxes. The $20,000,000 measure, still in the House committee, rests on another contingency.

The money would come from the $25,000,000 bond issue voters will be asked to approve at the November elections.

Provide for Jobless

A compromise between the Republican leaders and Gov. Gifford Pinchot amply provided for the jobless until the expiration of the current biennium on May 31. Agreement on a program to acquire funds after that date does not exist. The governor refuses to authorize any appropriations until he is certain of the source of the money. His revenue-raising ideas are not in accord with those advanced by Republican leaders. They look to beer taxes, the Turner bill and a general salary slash.

In a final attempt to save the body of the Turner economy code, organization chairmen are considering a reconsideration vote on the battered Howell resolution in the House Monday night. They claim sufficient power to revive the salary reducing document, once passed but later killed, 96 to 94, and carry it to effect a saving of $5,000,000.

Pinchot Holds Whip

Failure to accomplish this will seriously threaten the future of the Turner bill. Its remaining economies, estimated to save approximately $5,000,000, will fall short of providing sufficient money for the relief appropriation.

Such a condition might force the organization to turn to some of the governor's recommendations. All have been frowned upon in the past, the records indicating strongly that any surrender will come only as a last resort.

PLAN TO APPEAL NEFF'S VERDICT AT YOUNGSTOWN

Clyde W. Osborne, attorney for the defendant, immediately filed notice of intention to appeal the case. Neff was expected to be released from jail today on bond of $20,000 which was fixed by the court.

Neff, who was accused by the state of killing his wife with a shotgun charge last October as she lay asleep on a couch, contended that the shooting was accidental.

Although he was visibly affected by the testimony during the trial, Neff showed no sign of emotion as the verdict was returned.

Women And Girls Aid

Working with the usual body of men this year was a new division composed of women and girl workers, which crashed through the announced quota which Y officials had set for that unit. The dependable boys' division lived up to tradition and also enrolled more members than Y officials had anticipated.

The directors' and young men's divisions also contributed big boosts to the campaign in the totals they reported.

After last night's dinner, the campaign officially closed. Prospects whose cards workers still carried last night, however, were being visited today. At noon General Secretary Meermans believed the goal of 1,000 members had been topped.

Music for the dinner period last night was provided by R. E. Johns, who directed the pep singing, and Judy Sypher, who tickled the ivories.

Reports Are Made

After the dinner and short song period, General Chairman Rentz, anxious like the rest to hear the campaign totals, called for team reports. They were immediately tallied.

It was after the tabulation that Mr. Rentz thanked the workers for their job, even though success didn't exactly crown it. His words reflected the feelings every worker had, for the difficult job had not been underestimated when it began. The team had given of their best.

Turning to President George E. Lyon of the Y's board of directors, Mr. Rentz remarked "now it's up to you."

For the directors, for the campaign organization, President Lyon voiced the appreciation for the part pinners' work. He paid high tribute to General Secretary R. L. Meermans, when, in the course of thanking the teams, he said: "We've been in this condition before—and I want to say here that we can turn to a general secretary who knows how to finance things. If they can be financed, he'll finance them. Mr. Meermans has eliminated the corners we felt weren't necessary before and that we can be sure he can be depended upon to do, providing cutting is necessary."

Miss Lillian Keene, captain of one of the women's and girls' teams, was then called upon by Mr. Rentz to tell the group a bit of her campaign experience.

General Secretary Meermans followed Miss Keene, bringing his thanks for the way in which the workers campaigned.

The rally ended with Mr. Meermans' closing prayer.

WHAT WILL INFLATION MEAN?

5—Wage cutting will virtually cease.

6—Later on—when times are materially improved—the man on a fixed salary will be in line for a raise in pay.

7—Jobs for the unemployed will be created. A public works program may be inaugurated.

8—Those in debt will be helped. They will not have to pay as much in terms of wheat and cotton to settle their debts.

9—Foreign trade should pick up. The United States will be in a position to compete on the basis of depreciated currencies.

10—The United States government will obtain a bigger tax on income as business improves.

Wall street despite the Republican attack on inflation now developing in Washington is manifesting strong confidence in President Roosevelt and his policies aimed at beating the depression. J. P. Morgan's endorsement of Roosevelt's action in taking the United States off the gold standard is regarded in "the street" as significant.

Sentiment in Wall street varies, depending upon the trend of the market. Consequently the feeling just now is optimistic. Stocks have been going up. Trading has been active. Thursday's 7,125,310 shares traded in the exchange was the biggest market day since May 5, 1930. Brokers have re-hired some of the help they let out during the depression. Confidence has taken a brace in New York's financial district.

FORMER TREASURY HEADS OPPOSING EXPANSION PLAN

that the Republicans, with former Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon as their secret leader, had former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills as their active director, had negotiated an agreement with Mr. Roosevelt to accept the modified gold plan. On the other hand, administration leaders in the Senate protested they knew nothing about such an agreement.

The effect of the change would be to strip the President of power to lower the gold content of the dollar unless England and France entered into an agreement fixing the ratio between various currencies. The President will seek such an accord in his present series of conferences with Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and a little later on with Edouard Herriot, former premier of France.

Roosevelt Seeks Action

Washington, April 22.—President Roosevelt advised administration leaders in Capitol Hill today he wished prompt enactment of the currency expansion bill in order to negotiate with foreign representatives at the forthcoming economic conferences.

The President said he was ready to assume the tremendous monetary responsibilities proposed in the modified bill. Under its latest terms he would be empowered to use the Federal Reserve system for expanding and contracting the currency, to issue $3,000,000,000 in U. S. notes in expanding the currency, to remonetize silver at any ratio he deemed fair, and to reduce the gold content of the dollar not to exceed 50 per cent.

FIRE DAMAGES SMALL BUILDINGS AT VILLA MARIE

the lung searing smoke which filled the houses and carried out all the furniture. Through their heroic efforts there was no furniture loss, nor were any of the cars in the garage damaged.

Pumper equipment from New Castle fire department arrived and the blaze in the Tea House roof was put out. The Guest House, built of brick and made brick some 75 years ago and originally the home of the founder of Villa Marie, was gutted badly and the roof burned off. The walls are solid and the building can be repaired. Youngstown apparatus also arrived at the scene and aided the New Castle firemen.

Might Have Been Heavy.

The loss at the convent might easily have been heavy. There are many fine buildings in the grounds, but these, fortunately, are located some distance from the scene of the fire.

Villa Marie convent is owned by the Sisters of the Humility of Mary. The order was originally founded in France about 1852, and in 1894 Fr. Joseph Begel came to America and founded the convent near New Bedford. His first home was built of bricks made on the grounds by hand, this building being the Guest House which was gutted.

About 52 years ago Fr. Begel's nephew, Mr. N. J. Franche, assumed charge as chaplain and is on duty there still, assisted by Fr. Weigand, who came to the convent about a year ago.

The nunnery is in charge of Mother Ursula, who is Mother Superior of the convent. Mother Ignatia is Sister Mary Ignatia. In addition to the nunnery there is a school for small girls operated and an academy for older girls. The Sisters of Humility of Mary for the most part are teachers and nurses.

Assistant Fire Chief James E. Thomas and the Pirsch pumper and crew from the central station made a quick run to the fire from New Castle and assisted in preventing the spread of the blaze. They received a call for assistance at 8:35.

France To Stay On Gold Standard

Emergency Measures On Tariff Are Considered By French Cabinet

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 22.—Emergency measures to meet the situation brought about by America's abandonment of the gold standard—with an increased tariff on American goods at the top of the list—were drafted by the French cabinet at a special session today.

Members of the cabinet, it was learned, voiced their determination to keep France on the gold standard despite America's defection.

In order to protect the franc and safeguard French industry, the minister of commerce was instructed to draw up an increased tariff scale for American goods. No attempt will be made to place the new scale in operation, however, until the situation is cleared.

All Of Us
BY MARSHALL MASLIN

YOU KNOW WHAT'S BEST
Life has its rules, too, and when we disobey them we suffer and when we obey them we achieve happiness. We suffer sometimes when we break the rules that other men have laid down for us, but we suffer more when we break the ones that are part of our own flesh and spirit.

Every man, every woman knows what the published rules of living are. No, every human being, however, knows his own personal, inexorable laws. But he knows when his own happiness approves his conduct and he can read his own laws by observing closely when he has drawn melancholy into himself and when he is at peace.

I have done things I knew I should not do.
Been selfish, been arrogant, been foolish. . . . And sometimes I have thought I was escaping the consequences of my error. But I have never escaped scot free.

No one ever does. Sooner or later what you do comes back to you. Your mind will argue that you are foolish. You will work up some elaborate defense and call as your ingenious lawyers the firm of Self Pity, Self Defense & Mortal Pride. It is all in vain.

After all, your brain is a part of you, your hired servant, and it must perform your secret wishes. It will argue in your behalf until the last breath that you may draw. And so, when the unseen Judge says to you, "Throw yourself on the mercy of this court and confess! Are you guilty, or are you innocent?" you rise to your feet and put out your chin and smile and say: "Judge, I am guilty. Be merciful!"

And that inner judge, wise and understanding says: "My son, my daughter, I knew you were not evil. You were merely a wavering and confused child who did not understand. Go your way and follow the light that burns within your own breast. Do what you know is best and you shall have peace and understanding forever. I do not condemn, but I ask for your own soul's comfort to be wiser in the future."

Once Overs
By J. J. MUNDY

YOUR HOSTS
When you are a guest in the home of a friend, be careful of your actions and your speech in the presence of other friends to whom you may be introduced during your visit.

Recounting some of the episodes of former years, you are likely to mention some things which, to the newer friends of your host or hostess, may not be accepted as being really harmless as you know them to be.

Perhaps your friends have established themselves on a higher plane than they maintained in the days you knew them in your old town.

The years have made improvements and broadened the thoughts of those whom you remember as the centers of the episodes you relate. Naturally, coming as a guest and as an old friend, you should not let your conversation reflect unfavorably on the past of these friends you visit.

What you think very amusing, and highly entertaining, may cast a slur on the reputation of these friends who, in the newer residence, have never been questioned as to standing and who do not deserve to be.

So you cause your hosts to be misjudged and certainly do not add anything to your own credit.

Have more consideration for the interests of those who entertain you. (Copyright, 1933, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SOMETHING TO DO
Not long ago I knew a man whose path was smooth and fair. He'd all he wished of money and he'd not a single care. But he used to come to see me and he'd mutter many a night: "I'm tired of being idle and I'd like a foe to fight."

"I'm tired of golf and yachting and I'm sick of traveling, too. I think I could be happy if I had a job to do. I'd like to rise o' mornings with some doubts to solve or dread. You may think retirement's pleasant, I'd rather work instead."

"For the fun is in the striving and the thrill is in the chase. And it keeps man healthy-minded if he has some odds to face. It is good to start a business and to think and plan for it; It is fine to be successful, but it's deadly when you quit!"

Well, we're back once more in harness and we've doubts and fears to face. There are problems now a-plenty, but it's healthy for the race. Now we're bidding for existence and we're toiling in the sun. And as long as we'll keep busy boredom cannot spoil our fun. (Copyright, 1933, Edgar A. Guest.)

TENNESSEE BUBBLE REMARKS
Temporary Office of Joe Bulger, Headquarters of Salt Creek, Pa., April 20-23.

Fred Rentz, News Co.

As regards my letter April 19 where I say I got to stop on account of some of my experiments in my garage, I have been boiling over. I sure got into a peck of trouble as regards the same on account my wife had hung up all around the stove some of her best curtains on account of the rain outside & when the experiments boiled over they didn't only boil over on the stove but they smeared up all the curtains too. She aint got over kidding me about the same yet. You know my wife Fred.

Well anyhow as regards where I yesterday finished up the german war & got the Muscles Shoals dam built & nothing to use the same on as regards making powder etcetera on account the war was over at that time & also as regards where I claimed that in congress some sons of wild beasts of burden was trying to get the gov't into the fertilizer business when too much of the same was then being made & in the face of the same was trying to spend some more bushel baskets of millions of tax money to replace the obsolete machinery in the dam the same remarks should be extended as follows & to wit.

The said sons of W O B what I have wrote above you will know the answer is because the private factory has to furnish their own money to build their plants while the gov't gets all theirs for nothing. How does the gov't get the same for nothing. Well I just told you above etcetera where I ex-claimed that the gov't buys their dams etc with money they take away from you in donations called by the polite name a tax.

Shaw Disappoints Americans
In Address On Public Affairs

British Writer Credited With Devotion To "Wisecrack", Which Has Lost Its Potency As Means Of Discussion

Death of the "wisecrack" is observed by Americans in the aftermath of the address of George Bernard Shaw before an audience of American Leaders in New York. The English writer is credited with patternity of this form of expression, and it's one-time vogue is recognized, but he is declared to have registered a failure in his attempt to apply it to a dramatist's analysis of American affairs.

Most scathing of the comments on his address is the conclusion of the GLENDALE NEWS-PRESS that he is a "polished ruffian of letters," while the COLUMBIA (S. C.) STATE calls him a "meandering scold and vendor of deceived jests," and the ATLANTA JOURNAL condemns a "dribble of flat ale and the squeak of semia mouse." The CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR offers the verdict: "We neither laugh nor get mad at Mr. Shaw any more. We merely yawn. This does not mean that we should yawn in his face, as several of his New York auditors did the other night. Whatever the falling off in the Shaw vogue, however sharp the decline in the quality of his wit, he is still a distinguished guest and a dramatist who has done important things in his time. And he is a gentleman of advanced years. He deserves the gentlest of hospitality, and it is gratifying to know that those New Yorkers who were aware of Mr. Shaw's presence treated their venerable guest with the grave kindness of any Boy Scout."

"Shawism, in its personal aspects, if not literary," according to the NASHVILLE BANNER, "represents a fad which having lost the flavor of novelty may reasonably be expected to recede." The NEWARK EVENING NEWS states: "What happened was that the world's best publicity getter put on a swell show. He made a speech with which no one could disagree in toto, and he made as much fun of himself as of the American. This is not only good showmanship it is a type of salesmanship. As to the sermon, it was a case of oh, Shaw? Oh, pshaw."

"The only bungle of the evening," in the opinion of the NEW YORK SUN, "was the failure of a part of the audience to keep in tune with Mr. Shaw. They laughed at the wrong time; they failed to laugh when at least a giggle was called for. Yet here was gathered the flower of our serious thinkers. Bankers came prepared to smile at abuse of American financiers. Internationalists came to applaud the inevitable declaration that the war debts should be canceled. Parlor communists were on hand to encourage the man who in one brief and personally conducted tour of Russia learned magically all about the Soviets. They did their best; they should not be criticized too roughly for laughing in the wrong spot."

"Shaw has no idea," declares the DANBURY NEWS-TIMES, "that Americans are dumber than others. He thinks them wiser than others. America is a country he never ceases to praise, when he talks straight English. He sees a world starving in the midst of plenty; he sees folks split by their religious beliefs, divided by their party affiliations, guided by foolish slogans. He sees countries putting noisy and incompetent folks into places of power, quite disregarding the able leadership that makes a country. In China he sees girl babies exposed to die. In India men and women are kept in a hell of a trolley car. In Germany a government beats and imprisons those who do not agree with it. So he supposes that people are, in a mental and spiritual sense, deaf, blind and dumb, which is not in the least funny."

"We are glad," advises the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL, "to have Mr. Shaw among us. His visit ought to be a cure for such Shavian tricks as we have adopted, such Shavian tendencies as we have shown. Mr. Shaw is one of the creators and the chief exponent of the wisecrack, tinged with irony. As this habit came across the Atlantic to us, distance must have lent some sort of enchantment. We adopted the habit, until conversation in this country has become a wisecracking contest instead of an intellectual exchange of words and phrases. Now, with a close-up view, we see just how hollow, cheap, and devoid of good judgment the wisecracker is. We hope Mr. Shaw makes more of his speeches over the radio. We've been missing our own Jimmy Walker. Maybe the repeated experience with Mr. Shaw would cure us of wisecracking. And what a gain!"

"He brought one good thing to America," says the HARTFORD COURANT. "It was a demonstration of the high spirits, agility, handsome appearance, unruffled temper, gusto for new experiences and excellent health possible for a man of seventy-six."

"What chiefly ails Mr. Shaw," suspects the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, "is the incessant seriousness with which he has come to regard himself as a political economist. In this phase of his later years the public refuses to accept him seriously. His own version of 'Fabianism' went well enough when his showmanship and wit enabled him to make it sparkle for stage purposes, but now that the sparkle has become dulled, the philosophy goes flat."

"Perhaps, in his will," suggests the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, "Shaw may insert a clause bequeathing to the world the secret that his theory of humor was to tell people the opposite of what he meant, and the success of the trick lay in the number who would believe him. At all events the thought of the world always should weigh most in the direction opposite to the one he has indicated in language. That applies particularly to his ideas on politics and governments."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

"TOLABLE HARD!"
A negress came to the St. Louis City Dispensary with a badly broken jaw. The doctor questioned her as to how she got it. She gave evasive answers. Finally she admitted she was "hit with an object."

"Was it a large object?" asked the physician.
"Tolable large."
"Was it a hard object or a soft object?"
"Tolable hard."
"Was it coming rapidly or slowly?"
"Tolable fast."
Then her patience exhausted, she exclaimed: "To tell the truf, doctor, I was just mach-y kick in the face by a gemman friend."

AND NOW I'LL TELL ONE
Before the radio came in as a competitor, a good many senators and congressmen were able to make a hole extra coin by renting themselves out to Pond's lecture stable, who in turn rented them out to convention dinners and social affairs in small towns throughout the country. One of these congressmen (you'll have to guess who) was known for his long-winded speech-making in congress because of this he asked the fine art of the finished orator who could sense the time to close his address before tiring the audience. Speaking in a college town, before an assemblage in which there was a goodly sprinkling of students, he stretched his address to a point that taxed the patience of his hearers. Not until the young students began to hem and haw did the speaker realize that he had overtalked himself. Stopping abruptly, he said with an apologetic smile, "I believe I have spoken at greater length than I should have done, but I do not happen to have my watch with me and I see no clock in the hall."

Most of the back of the hall where the students were seated, came a voice, "But there's a calendar right back of you!"

Candidate For District Attorney

Attorney Alvah Shumaker Announces Candidacy For Republican Nomination

ALVAH SHUMAKER

Attorney Alvah Shumaker today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for district attorney of Lawrence county.

Mr. Shumaker was born in Prospect, Butler county, February 12, 1901. He is the son of the late Rev. E. C. Shumaker, who held pastorates in this county at the Harmony Baptist church in Shenango township, and later at the Harlansburg Baptist church in Scott township. After graduating from Denison university in Iowa, he received his professional training at the Harvard law school and was admitted to the local bar in 1926. Since then he has practiced continuously with offices in the Lawrence Savings & Trust building. He is married, has a family, is a property owner and resides in New Castle at 215 Sumner avenue.

In his statement of announcement Mr. Shumaker says:

"The office of district attorney is one of the important positions to be filled in the coming fall election. The district attorney represents you, the people, in the prosecution of criminal cases. The office requires a lawyer trained and experienced in the conduct of court proceedings.

"I have practiced before the Lawrence county courts, the Federal district court, the Pennsylvania supreme court and have been admitted to practice before the supreme court of the United States. At various times I have assisted the Commonwealth in the trial of cases and am familiar with the office of district attorney and its workings. In seeking this nomination I stand chiefly upon my record as a trial lawyer.

"I elected, I pledge myself to an efficient administration, to a careful investigation, preparation and trial of each case and to an economical management of the office. Under the existing law the district attorney has the power to appoint a permanent assistant with the consent of the court. I would not ask for a permanent assistant. These are times which demand the curtailment of county expense.

"I am not and will not be allied with any other candidate for a political office. I rest my case on the score of economy, experience and efficiency.

TICKER BEHIND
IN BUYING RUSH

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 22.—Led by the rails and mining shares, the stock market resumed its inflation rise today as the dollar weakened again.

The advance, however, continued at a calmer pace than the recent furious sessions.

The rise came after a further dip of 1 to 2 points in the first hour, continuing yesterday's reaction.

Utilities alone lagged but were able to recover part of their earlier losses. The city's approval of action to force rate cuts weighed the group down.

Homestead Mining continued to forge into new record high territory and rose well above $200 a share. The other gold shares followed.

A fresh buying rush came into the market in the second hour and the ticker fell behind.

Farm stocks met aggressive sponsorship despite the backwardness of grains. Montgomery Ward was taken up in big volume.

Motors were led by General Motors which continued to be taken in huge blocks. Great Northern preferred was an outstanding spot in the low-priced rails. The carriers were aided by a rise of nearly 7,000 cars in loadings last week.

MacDonald And Daughter Stay In White House

Prime Minister MacDonald And Daughter Isabel Are White House Guests

ROOSEVELT AND MACDONALD TALK

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 22.—With more dictatorial power given him than other president in peace time Franklin D. Roosevelt started detailed discussion of the world economic plight today, with prime minister J. Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain as his first conferee. Edouard Herriot, former premier of France, is enroute here to confer with the president in the series of conferences he has called with world leaders preliminary to the start of the forthcoming world economic conference.

White House guests Mr. MacDonald, accompanied by his daughter, Isabel, came here by train from New York late yesterday and were taken immediately to the White House where they will stay during their short visit.

They were warmly greeted by the Roosevelt and the two families spent the evening in informal conversation with the president and the prime minister only discussing their ideas on methods of improving world conditions.

MacDonald saw the press soon after his arrival. He asserted the world tariff is a problem that no single nation could tackle. He said no country could effect a solution of its own and leave out other nations.

He told the newspapermen his mission and the intentions of the president are not a party matter, nor British or American, but a united effort to improve world conditions.

The experts, those specialists whose difficult task it is to make effective the pious hopes upon which heads of governments make agreements, prepared to tackle the economic problems which President Roosevelt and Premier MacDonald were to discuss.

City Notified Compensation Rate Is Raised

Big Increase Asked For Compensation For Relief Workers

COUNCIL FACES SERIOUS PROBLEM

Council today received information that the firm carrying the workmen's compensation liability with the city for men engaged in city relief work proposed increasing its rate to $1 per man.

At present the coverage is based on a percentage of the total "pay-roll," according to city officials. Solons decided to meet Monday and take one of several courses suggested by City Solicitor R. M. White, as follows:

1. Cancel its policy with the insurance company.

2. Discontinue the use of relief workers on city projects.

3. Arrange with some insurance company to cover the relief workers until permanent insurance can be had.

4. Advertise for bids for workmen's compensation or

5. The city to carry its own risk.

Solicitor White pointed out that the city would not be able to stand an increase in rates on relief workers. For instance he said that were two hundred placed on relief work next week it would cost the city $200 insurance.

The matter was discussed briefly before noon today and councilmen stated they would take definite action at 10 a. m. Monday on the insurance question. According to the solicitor, he does not believe the rate can be made retroactive.

Senator Reed Urges Building Of Canal

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Completion of the proposed canalization of the Beaver and Mahoning Rivers as a part of the anticipated new public works program was urged upon Secretary of Labor Perkins today by Senator Reed.

In his letter Senator Reed enclosed a copy of a resolution passed recently by the New Castle city council, pleading that all necessary action be taken by the government to speed up construction of the proposed canal, which it was claimed, will concern 500,000 people in Beaver and Mahoning valleys.

"The unemployment and suffering incident to the depression in these valleys have been greatly increased by the simultaneous decline in the steel industries there situated, due to the excessive burden of freight rates which makes it impossible for these valleys to compete, except in a very restricted territory, with other steel centers," the resolution asserted in urging the government for the project.

Senator Reed informed Secretary Perkins that the proposed canal has been agitated for more than 20 years with a view to ultimate connection with a proposed canal linking the Ohio and Lake Erie.

"The route generally favored by engineers who have surveyed this territory, including Army engineers assigned to this study under authority of congressional resolutions, would follow the Beaver River from the Ohio to its junction with the Mahoning River, a short distance south of New Castle, and the Mahoning River from that point to the honing River from that point to the city of Youngstown," he writes.

"Thus the project covered by this resolution is a part of the larger project which would serve one of the busiest and richest industrial districts in the United States and provide a waterway connection between Lake Erie and the Ohio River which has been needed for the movement of heavy freight for many years.

"I hope that this project can be included in the public works program now under consideration."

Egg Auction Is Established In Butler Thursday

Egg Producers From Eight Counties Effect Organization In Butler

Thursday night poultrymen of Butler and surrounding counties met in the community building in Butler and decided to establish a producers' cooperative egg auction. A temporary board of directors was elected, and committees were appointed to proceed with the necessary functions to establish a permanent and legal organization, which is to be known as the Butler Cooperative Egg Auction.

This is a producers' organization and different farmers and poultrymen consign eggs to this auction. The consigners grade their eggs for size, and an official inspector determines the grade for internal quality. Auctions are held twice a week and each farmer's eggs are sold separately and definite quality is guaranteed. The farmer gets whatever price is definitely paid for his eggs minus the sales expenses.

About 75 people were present at Thursday night's meeting when the following temporary officers were elected: President, Earl Mack of West Sunbury; vice president, J. C. McCoy, Jr., of Emilion; secretary, Don Yingling of Nixon; treasurer, Frank Newell of Beaver Falls.

R. R. Hazen of Lawrence county was elected a member of the board of directors at the initial meeting. The next meeting of the organization will be held Thursday evening, May 11, in the Butler community building when a constitution and by-laws will be adopted.

Lawrence county farmers have promised to supply 52 cases of eggs for the auction, which includes eggs from Beaver, Butler, Lawrence, Venango, Clarion, Indiana, Mercer and Jefferson counties.

Interment was private for the family, in Uniondale cemetery, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, April 15.

Richard Francis Neill had been a resident of Douglas, Ariz., where he was superintendent of the Copper Queen smelter for the past 20 years. He had just returned to that place from Pittsburgh after having been in that city on account of the last illness and death of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth McGregor Neill. Almost immediately after his return to Douglas he contracted pneumonia and died after a brief illness of but three days.

Services were conducted in the First Presbyterian church at Douglas on Monday afternoon, April 10, by Dr. Herbert E. Hays, with the rites of the Masonic fraternity being exemplified at the close.

Mr. Neill is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ida McQueen Neill; two sisters, Mrs. Heway Morris, of Ohio Pyle, Pa., Miss Elizabeth Dismore Neill of Pittsburgh, and one brother, the Rev. George N. Neill, of Enon Valley, Pa.

Worker's Institute In Church Friday

Children's Work Is Discussed By Workers At Conference With State Superintendent

The children's division of the Lawrence County Sabbath School association, of which Mrs. M. E. Vaughn is superintendent, held an institute Friday in the First Christian church, with more than 100 workers of the county taking advantage of the opportunity to learn of new methods.

The afternoon session convened at 2:30 and Miss Lou V. Sikes, state children's division superintendent, gave an address on "The Child and Teacher at Worship." Conferences were held at the close of the address with Mrs. Albert P. Treser conducting the nursery discussion, Mrs. H. G. Horton the kindergarten, Miss Sikes, primary, and Mrs. Albert B. Sikes, junior. This was followed by an efficiency conference for the district children's division superintendents.

At 6 o'clock a chicken dinner was served the delegates and those interested in the work and at 7:30 the evening session convened.

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the church, conducted the worshipful opening and Miss Ruth Stanley sang an appropriate number.

Miss Sikes again addressed the gathering, speaking on "The Whole World's Friends." A film of "Babes In Chineland" was shown as the closing feature of the day's institute.

Assurances Are Given Europeans On Dollar Action

Foreign Countries Informed Through Embassies, U. S. Not Seeking Weapon

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 22.—The United States today informed Europe through its embassies in the principal capitals of the old world that the government's action in abandoning the gold standard and seeking inflationary measures were not a step in "international contest or conflict."

In a circular telegram sent to the American embassies in London, Berlin, Paris and Rome, secretary of state Hull advised the ambassadors the step was required by circumstances and "designed to enable us in this country to work out an improvement in prices," rather than to secure a weapon for the world economic conference.

Elder Is Surprised To Hear He's Dead

Rumors that County Commissioner P. O. Elder had died suddenly about noon today were circulated on the streets. When informed of the story Mr. Elder said, "Well, if I'm dead it's certainly a surprise to me. I ate a good dinner and am feeling fine. I can't imagine how such a story ever got started." So many false rumors have been circulated around town recently, that it is hinted that a new industry has sprung up, but certainly one that the city can well afford to be without.

Pirates Capture First Home Game

Bill Swift Holds Reds In Check As Pie Traynor Turns In Wicked Slugging

No One Able To Stop Mad Rush Of New York Yankees Toward Another Flag

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service
NEW YORK, April 22.—This being a pitchers' year, with two, three and four-hit games a daily occurrence, one might think the style of the slugging New York Yankees would be cramped by the base-hit depression. But so far nobody has been able to stop the world champions, who are running away with the American League race with six victories and no defeats.

Elsewhere pitchers continued to hold the upper hand. Bill Swift held the Reds to two hits in eight innings, the Pirates winning 5 to 1 and regaining first place in the National League. The Bucs scored all their runs in an eighth-inning rally featured by Pie Traynor's double off St. Johnson with the bases full.

The Boston Braves new hitless wonders, finally broke into the win column by trimming the Giants, 3 to 1, on four hits. The Braves scored all their runs in the fourth inning when Hal Schumacher walked three men and uncorked two wild pitches. The Giants dropped to second place.

In blanking the Cubs, 4 to 0, Wild Bill Hallahan of the St. Louis Cardinals scored his second triumph of the year at the expense of Guy Bush. Wild Bill let the Bruins down with five hits while Bush was knocked out of the box. Adams and Watkins of the Cards had a perfect day at bat with four hits apiece.

Cleveland Wins
"Bump" Hadley of the St. Louis Browns captured the day's pitching laurels by hurling a two-hit shut-out over the White Sox, his former mates, 4 to 0. Only one Chicago player reached second base.

Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, Detroit's rookie pitcher, was handed a 5 to 0 drubbing by Cleveland, with Oral Hildebrand holding the Tigers to five hits. Cissell led the attack with a homer, double and single. Detroit trooped to last place.

"Sugar" Cain, young hurler of the Athletics, beat the Senators 3 to 1 despite three errors by Dab Williams. General Alvin Crowder of the Senators, who had won 16 consecutive American league games up to last Monday, lost his second start in a row. Fox and Miller led the A's at bat with two hits apiece, each driving in a run, while Buddy Myer's homer gave Washington its only score.

The Dodgers and Phillies were not scheduled.

The weather bureau remains unimpressed by Dr. Charles G. Abbot's forecast of two years of reduced sun temperature. The bureau's scientists insist that there still is nothing to indicate much connection between solar changes and earthly climatic conditions.

Plan To Suspend Mid-West Schools For Sport Laxity

Five Schools And Universities Face Charges Made By Association Officials

CHARGES MADE AS RESULT OF PROBE

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 22.—Five universities and colleges of the Middle West, including the University of Detroit, today were threatened with suspension from the accredited list of the North Central Association of colleges and secondary schools.

The executive committee today was weighing the charges brought by association's commission on institutions of higher learning, which accused three of the schools of laxity in athletic department supervision. The association is holding its annual convention here.

In addition to the University of Detroit, the schools named in the charges were Augustana College of Rock Island, Ill.; Hamline University of St. Paul; New Mexico State Teachers' College, Silver City, N. M.; and the Municipal University of Wichita, Kan.

Athletic Conditions

"Athletic conditions" was given as the reason for charges brought against the University of Detroit, Municipal University of Wichita and Hamline University. Hamline likewise was cited for "lack of effective educational organization." "General education conditions" was the charge read against New Mexico State Teachers' College.

The conclusions of a three year study of athletics made by B. L. Stedley, university examiner of Ohio State University, recommended higher educational standards for coaches of major sports in colleges and universities and limitation of salary schedules to conform to those of other university departments.

St. Andrews To Play Independent Mushball Again

Men's Athletic Club At St. Andrews Will Attend Sunday Evening Service In Body

At a meeting of the Men's Athletic club of St. Andrews church last night it was decided after considerable discussion to play an independent schedule of mushball games this year, and not enter the New Castle Mushball league. Mr. Wignall, was the presiding officer at the meeting and gave the men a fine talk.

It was decided that the St. Andrews Athletic club members would attend in a body and all members are urged to be at the church at 7:15 o'clock to march in a body. The mushball team will hold their initial workout Monday night at Gaston Park at 6 o'clock. The season will be opened on May 1. Next Friday night will be the final regular meeting of the Men's Athletic club this summer, and Mr. Wignall is trying to obtain a fine speaker.

Tommy Loughran Beats Gastanaga

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 22.—Tommy Loughran may not be the champion of anything else, but he's the champion of Spain today. He was a left hand better than Izzy Gastanaga, the Basque dynamite, last night at the Chicago stadium, to the mild amusement of some 8,000 customers.

It was the same left hand that Tommy dangled at the end of Mickey Walker's nose on the occasion of the stadium's opening. Izzy could have knocked the Philadelphia out with either hand, but he never went much farther than Loughran's left hand. And there he remained for ten long and tedious rounds.

The Keystone will have a baseball meeting Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of George Bunnell on Lafayette street in the seventh ward. Plans for the first practice of the year will be discussed. It is likely that the Keystone will have their first workout next week. Plans are under way for a first class team, and the Keystone will play some of the best teams in the city.

Four Planes At Local Airport

Hangar Is To Be Painted White, With Black And White Roof

Although the weather has not been ideal for flying during the past week or more it is anticipated that within the next few weeks warm weather and a dry spell will make their advent and the sport of flying will perk up considerably.

During the past week the Travel-airs which was owned locally was sold to an Ohio air enthusiast and is now housed at a hangar in Youngstown. There are four planes at the local port and the Great Lakes is being rebuilt for summer air flying.

Since the placing of the flood-lights at the local airport, no ship has been forced to descend at the local port. As the field is drained well and lighting facilities are suitable notice of a plane in trouble at night can be telephoned to 9365 Ring 6.

One of the improvements planned for the airport within the next few weeks is the repainting of the hangar. Bill Millson said today that within the next few weeks the hangar would be painted white excepting on top which would be "checkered" black and white.

New Trial Refused To Meyer M. Frank

Injured In Automobile Accident When Driver Of Car Fell Asleep

Judge R. L. Hildebrand handed down an opinion at court Friday in which he refused a new trial in the case of Meyer M. Frank against Julius Markley. The case was one growing out of a peculiar automobile accident, in which it was claimed that the driver fell asleep at the wheel.

Frank and Markley went to Youngstown in Markley's car to call upon a couple of friends. They started home sometime around 2:30 a. m. Markley was driving.

When a short distance out of Youngstown, Frank is said to have fallen asleep. When Markley was in the vicinity of the Blue Goose Inn on the New Castle-Youngstown road he also fell asleep and the car struck a telephone pole. Frank was injured.

At the trial of the case a verdict was rendered in favor of the defendant and the plaintiff asked for a new trial on the grounds that his contributory negligence, which was alleged, had been allowed to go before the jury.

The court cites several similar cases on which there has been supreme court decisions, in refusing trial.

Gold Hoarding Must Cease Before May 1

Banks of the city belonging to the Federal Reserve System have received copies of the Federal anti-hoarding rules and with them, explanatory notes showing what can be done and how the rules will be applied.

The term "hoarding" means the withdrawal and withholding of gold coin, gold bullion, or gold certificates from the recognized and customary channels of trade. On or before May 1, all gold coin, gold bullion and gold certificates owned by a person, partnership or corporation, must be delivered to the Federal Reserve system or to a bank which is a member of the system.

There are some exceptions. Among them are, gold required for legitimate and customary use in industry, profession or art within a reasonable time. Gold coin and gold certificates not exceeding $100 in the aggregate belonging to any one person. Gold coins having special recognized value to collectors of rare and unusual coins. Gold coin or bullion held for a recognized foreign government or foreign central bank or the Bank of International Settlements. Gold coin and bullion licensed by the Treasury Department for other proper transactions.

The Treasury Department will pay the reasonable costs of transportation of coin or bullion to the member bank. Banks will be permitted to hold earmarked gold or trust funds but must be licensed. For violation of the Executive order, a fine of not more than $10,000 is imposed upon the person or corporation violating the order.

Observations In 7th Ward

A little bit of Washington, D. C. can be seen at 705 West Clayton street. Two Japanese cherry trees are in blossom there in front of the Colbert home, and it is a sight worth seeing. They are beautiful little trees and are something quite different from what is ordinarily seen in this district.

Owners of Cottage Grove, near Fayette, have practically completed the driveway into the resort and are now planning to start work on the erection of retaining wall along the creek bank in order to protect it against high waters and rains. The Grove is owned by a number of seventh ward families.

Something unusual in the way of flower gardens is being planned out by two young service station owners on East Madison avenue. It is somewhat on the order of a sunken garden, neatly arranged in an artistic manner, with a walk circling around and through it. The walk is being marked with whitewashed bricks.

Remember the blacksmith shops that used to be located on East Madison avenue and on East Clayton at the corner of Liberty? Youngsters, now prominent business men, used to spend a large part of each day there. Rings made of horseshoe nails were the popular finger adornments. Everyone had one. Gas stations have replaced each of the shops.

RETURNS TO HOME

Jack Lowry, of North Liberty street at the corner of East Madison avenue, returned to his home on Thursday after several weeks with his daughter, Mrs. Albert Wolfert. Mr. Jackson, where he was taken after being hit by an automobile. He is able to be around again.

Dr. Perifano Is Candidate For School Board

Well Known Member Of Dental Profession Announces For Place On Board

DR. A. M. PERIFANO

Dr. A. M. Perifano, a leading member of the dental profession in this city for many years today announces himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for a full term as a member of the board of education of this city. A candidate at the last regular election when members of the board were selected, he made a very fine run, being the choice of many hundreds of the voters participating in that election.

A resident of the Fourth Ward, he has been very successfully following his profession in the South Side district of the city for many years and believes that he is familiar with the educational needs of a large portion of the people of the city.

In making his announcement today, he said: "A number of my friends have suggested that I again become a candidate for the office of school director in the city of New Castle, as the terms of W. W. Duff, Roy W. Hazen and Mrs. Rachel B. Elliott expire and they are said not to be candidates for re-election. I have decided to permit the use of my name as such a candidate, offering myself on the basis of educational and professional status in the community as an evidence of my fitness for the position. I believe that the needs of the school system will be benefited by the selection of a member of my profession as a member of the board. If nominated and elected, I pledge myself to act at all times in the best interests of the community, being free from all influences that might prejudice the interests of any part of our community or prove costly to the taxpayer."

Some of the passenger vessels on the Great Lakes that will carry passengers to the Century of Progress exposition were in service during the World's Fair of 1893 in Chicago. To be sure, there are more modern vessels—but the passenger season on the Great Lakes lasts only a few months and few new vessels are built.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

The bacillus "Gardenerius" and its blood brother, the "hookus rakers" seem to be getting in some lusty licks just now. Travel the county where you will and the talk isn't so much on inflation or the proper agency to license beer sellers, but how to much a red raspberry bush and what to do for gum cuts on a cherry tree.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast and the fellow who swore off gardening last summer, as he painfully rubbed lotion into his blistered hands, is just now reading the seed catalogues and arguing with his wife as to where the spring onions go.

Dropped in at West Pittsburgh Friday afternoon for a while, thinking perhaps that Bob Garland or Bert Davis or Squire John Howell would have something to add to the present debate as to how much the currency should be inflated.

They weren't interested, at least not yesterday. The squirrel is up to his chin, figuratively speaking, in his garden. Flowers, vegetables and shrubbery; he took them all in his stride and in answer to the question as to what effect he thought the gold embargo would have on the foreign trade balance, he absent mindedly said that he thought six inches distance was enough between bean hills.

Davis wanted to talk fishing. He does his gardening with a steel rod and line, while Garland knows more about machines and brasses than he does about rakes and hoes. Not a one of the three would talk world problems, or state problems or even the coming primary election. Spring was in the air and they refused to be diverted by passing fancies.

The road machines are being taken out of moth balls on the new road leading to West Pittsburgh and in a short time they'll be laying concrete again. What has been laid is a real highway and the work will be rolling again shortly.

The advance guard of the garden army has arrived on the battlefield located east of Cascade street. Early today they were out with spadings and rakes, cleaning and digging and a week from now will see them deployed across a front a quarter of a mile long.

And a bow to the printing brethren today. The boys are in from this state, from Maryland and West Virginia for a conference and what with conferring and other things, they'll be busy today and tomorrow.

Shields-Stoefen Draw Attention

(International News Service)

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 22—The committee appointed to select the U. S. Davis cup team centered its attention today upon Frank Shields of New York and Lester Stoefen of Los Angeles as play in the Mason and Dixon tennis tourney reached the final round.

Shields opposed Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J. in the singles final and he and Stoefen were finalists in the doubles against Mangin and Berkeley Bell, Texas.

Yesterday the committee, which had picked Cliff Sutter, New Orleans, Wilmer Allison, Texas, Geo. Loft, Chicago and John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, to oppose Mexico in the first Davis cup match next month, saw three of its nominees bite the dust in a startling debacle. Shields vanquished Sutter in the singles, Shields and Stoefen
